

ROCKMOUNT PRIMARY SCHOOL

Meeting the Needs of Pupils with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities
SEN Information Report
September 2023

All Croydon Schools are committed to and adopt a similar approach to meeting the needs of all pupils, including those with special educational needs. There is a shared expectation that all pupils, regardless of their specific needs, will benefit from inclusive teaching which will enable them to make the best possible progress in school, ensure they can actively participate in the wider aspects of school life and support readiness for the next phase of education and preparation for adulthood.

Rockmount School is whole heartedly committed to an inclusive approach in all aspects of school life. We welcome everyone into our school community and ensure that we offer the best education for all children, enabling them to achieve their full potential in all areas of personal development.

Educational inclusion is about equal opportunities for all members of the school community. We are a reflective school, continually adapting our practice in order to meet the needs of our pupils, staff and community members. All our children should play a positive role in society where diversity is recognised and respected. We believe that every person should be valued equally and should have the same opportunity to realise his or her potential.

We carefully monitor the achievement and wellbeing of different groups of learners in order to make appropriate provision for ever-changing needs. We use varied access arrangements and teaching styles to ensure that all pupils are provided with an appropriate and accessible curriculum which allows them to develop and progress at their own level.

What support do we offer?

The school will use its best endeavours to ensure the necessary provision is made for any pupil with SEND. In doing so, we will fulfil the statutory duties and best practice guidelines set out in the Department for Education Code of Practice for SEN, January 2015.

SEN Support - Assessment, Planning and Review

How will the school decide if my child needs extra help? How can I find out about how well my child is doing?

Class teachers are responsible for identifying pupils who are not making appropriate progress. Formal meetings are held each term between class teachers and senior leaders to look at the progress of all pupils across the school.

When it is evident that a child will require a higher level of more tailored support than is available through Quality First teaching, we will offer SEND Support. Parents/Carers will be notified that their child will receive additional support and the child will be placed on the Inclusion Register, where his/her progress and provision can be monitored more closely.

The provision will be regularly reviewed following the graduated approach cycle of:

Following discussions with key staff and parents/carers, additional support or intervention programmes may be put in place. Short term targets will be agreed prioritising the key areas of learning which have been identified for your child. Appropriate provision will be put in place to support your child to achieve these targets and this will be recorded on an Individual Education and Provision Plan. The impact of any additional support will be reviewed regularly and you will be kept informed regarding the progress your child is making. Pupils are, wherever possible, involved in discussions regarding their targets, the support they receive and the progress they are making. Where there are continued concerns that a pupil is not making progress, further assessments will take place where appropriate.

In some cases, it may be necessary to increase or change the nature and level of support to help your child to make progress. This may involve seeking help and advice from a range of specialist agencies such as the Educational Psychology Service or Speech and Language Service. A referral for support from an outside agency will only be made with your consent.

If your child does not make appropriate progress despite an increased level of support, the decision may be made to request an Education, Health and Care Plan. The SENCO will discuss this process with you and explain how it may benefit your child. You will also be given details of parent/carer organisations which can offer you advice and support.

Tests and Examinations: Access Arrangement

For some pupils, additional arrangements and adjustments can be made to enable them to fully access statutory tests. This might include additional time; rest breaks or use of a scribe.

The relevant member of staff will talk to you if they feel that your child would benefit from these additional arrangements.

Curriculum and Teaching Methods (including groupings and interventions)

How will teaching be adapted to meet the needs of my child?

Teaching is adapted to meet the diverse range of needs in each class. Daily planning takes into account the needs and requirements of individual pupils. Differentiation is approached in a range of ways to support access and ensure that all pupils can experience success and challenge in their learning. Flexible grouping arrangements and support from additional adults are used to help groups and individual pupils, with a long-term goal of encouraging and developing independent learning skills. If required, more specific interventions are available to support groups and individuals to develop key areas of their learning and development. Details of the additional support offered to your child will be included in their Individual Education Plan and will be discussed with you.

A range of interventions and support are available to promote progress in specific areas of identified need:

Croydon Locality SEND Support

We are working with a cluster of local schools, who together have been given funding to provide early intervention and better targeted help to support children and young people with SEND. This work covers children from Nursery to Year 6 and the aim is to enable us to quickly get the necessary support and help for pupils who are beginning to demonstrate that they have additional needs which cannot be met through our own school SEND resources. This early help may be in the form of advice, school to school support, referral to specialist services, or additional resources, including early years special needs funding (SENIF). Our group of schools manage the funding between us, so we can direct this to the most suitable children in an efficient targeted way. If, despite this rapid support, it is thought that a child would still benefit from an Education and Health Care Plan, the local group will work together to ensure that the application to assess is appropriate, submitted promptly with all the relevant information including from outside professionals.

Transition

How will the school help my child to move between year groups and schools?

Children and young people with SEN can become particularly anxious about 'moving on' so we seek to support their wellbeing and positive mental health through successful transition and ensure consistency of support:

When joining our Nursery/Reception Classes:

The Early Years Leader or SENCO will contact the pre-school setting to seek information regarding the nature and level of needs for pupils identified with SEND and the provision that has already been offered to overcome these barriers. Discussions will be held with parents/carers to share information. If the pupil has more significant needs and /or has support from other professional agencies, more formal transition meetings will be arranged and documented.

When moving to/from another school:

We will contact the School SENCO and share information about special arrangements and support currently in place to help your child achieve their learning goals.

We will ensure that all records are passed between schools in the Summer term to support forward planning for the receiving school.

When moving between classes and phases

An information sharing meeting will take place with the new teacher.

Opportunities will be provided for your child to visit the new class and meet the teacher and other key staff. Children will also have the opportunity to receive a transition booklet which they can access over the summer holidays to help support their return in the Autumn term.

When moving to secondary school:

Our SENCO will encourage parents and carers to visit a range of secondary schools and will make contact with the Year 7 leader or SENCO once a school has been named to start planning for transition. Where a child has an EHCP, the SENCO from the secondary school will also be invited to the Year 6 annual review meeting.

Multi-agency meetings maybe arranged to create a more detailed transition plan. Successful arrangements and interventions currently used to support your child can be shared with the receiving school and additional visits to the new setting may be planned to help your child become familiar with the new setting and to reduce any anxieties.

Your involvement in this process will be critical to supporting a successful move.

Engagement with Pupils and Families

How are children and parents/carers involved in decisions about support and provision?

The views of parents/carers and children are an extremely important part of the process of identification and support of an individual child's Special Educational Need. The school will work in partnership with you to do the very best for your child. Regular meetings will take place to discuss your child's needs, targets, progress and provision. Parents/carers and children (where appropriate) will be involved at every stage and all aspects of the process will be fully explained to you. The school SENCOs will be happy to discuss any issues or concerns you may have.

We are always keen to support parents and carers and to take your views on how we can continue to develop positive experiences and promote wellbeing for SEND pupils at Rockmount. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you require further information or would like to discuss any aspect of our SEND provision.

Arrangements for handling complaints

What should I do if I am unhappy about the support for my child?

If you are unhappy about any aspect of the support given to your child, please speak to the class teacher straightaway. Depending on the nature of your concern, a meeting will be held with the SENCO or one of the senior leaders. We will work with you to resolve any issues and alleviate your concerns. We can also make arrangements for you to discuss concerns with other key professionals such as the Educational Psychologist. If you are still unhappy and do not feel the matter is fully resolved the school will recommend that you seek support from SENDIAS, the local Special Educational Need Information and Advice Service.

If your concern is directly related to decisions around an Education, Health and Care Plan, this will be managed directly by the Croydon SEND Team.

If your concerns are still unresolved you may be advised to make a formal complaint via the school Complaints Procedure which is available on the school website:
